RVTS TARGETED RECRUITMENT PILOT

The Remote Vocational Training Scheme (RVTS) assists the recruitment of doctors to targeted rural and remote communities with high medical workforce need, by including the RVTS GP Vocational Training program as a component of the doctor recruitment package. Since 2018, RVTS has successfully assisted the recruitment of 43 doctors to 46 rural and remote locations across Australia, including 12 Aboriginal Medical Services.

RVTS Training is a four-year GP and Rural Generalist training program delivered by Distance Education and Remote Supervision leading to Fellowship of the ACRRM and/or RACGP. RVTS Training is fully funded by the Australian Government.

The Targeted Recruitment model has brought workforce stability and enhanced continuity of care to the participating communities, as well as career progression to specialist qualifications for the recruited doctors. The RVTS Targeted Recruitment strategy is an Australian Government Initiative.

Kangaroo Island is Australia's third-largest island after Tasmania and Melville Island located 110 km southwest of Adelaide. Island's economy is principally agricultural, with a southern rock lobster fishery and with tourism growing in importance, swelling the population between Christmas and Easter each year.

The island has several nature reserves to protect the remnants of its natural vegetation and native animals, with the largest and best-known being Flinders Chase National Park at the western end.

Kingscote is the largest town on the island with a population of 2000, is the administrative and tourist centre for the Island, and is serviced by Kingscote airport.

Kangaroo Island experiences warm, dry summers; mild, relatively dry springs and autumns; and mild winters with moderate precipitation.
